We're Hiring! Tenure Track Assistant Professor, Special Education

CPP invites applications for a tenure track faculty position in the Department of Education. CPP is one of three polytechnic universities in the 23-campus California State University system. The university is well known for its learn-by-doing approach and Teacher-Scholar Model.

College of Education and Integrative Studies (CEIS) is a learning community focused on meeting the present and future needs of students in its communities. The college educates students to become highly qualified and significant leaders in society.

The Education Department's mission is to empower transformative educators who advocate for justice and equity for all learners. We value equity, racial, and social justice; academic excellence; student success; experiential learning; inclusiveness; and social and environmental responsibility.

We seek an energetic scholar-practitioner who can teach credential courses, supervise teacher candidates in the field, advise credential, master's degree, and EdD candidates, and serve the department, college, university, community, and profession, and maintain a scholarly agenda. Applicants are expected to demonstrate commitment to the academic preparation of racially, ethnically, culturally, linguistically, socioeconomically, and neuro-diverse teacher candidates, as well as experience with culturally sustaining instruction of TK-22 students with disabilities.
